Hon. R. P. Boise of Salem is to deliver the oration at Junction City on the Fourth

The brick work on the State University is progressing rapidly, several feet having already been laid.

Seven thousand dollars in currency was paid to the Warm Spring Indian Scouts at the Dalles last week.

Mr. T. J. Small, of Marion county, killed a large salmon trout with a rock at Spores' ferry the other day.

Surveying has been resumed on the new road to be opened between Linkville and Ashland, Mr. J. S. Howard being the surveyor.

Rev. Thomas Condon, of the Dalles, has accepted an invitation to deliver the annual address at the Oregon State Fair, in October next.

There will be a basket meeting at the camp-ground of the M. E. Church South, near Dixie, Polk county, Saturday and Sunday, July 5th and 6th.

Two young Japanese, Mingoree and Cameojid, arrived at Forest Grove last Wednesday, from San Francisco. They are going to school in that place.

On Wednesday of last week a band of 6,40 sheep passed through Corvallis from Umpqua, en route for the Touchet country, above Walla Walla.

John Dupont was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years and William Simpson was sentenced for four years at the Dalles last week. Both were convicted of larceny.

The peach crop, usually so abundant about Walla Walla and the Dalles, is this year almost a failure from late frosts. The same is true in Umpqua and Rogue river valleys.

The wagon road from Corvallis to the beach at Yaquina, which has been under way for five years past, is at last finished, except the bridges on some important streams and sloughs.

Bro. Carter, of the Gazette, reports a cock fight at Corvallis on the 22d, and says it drew quite a crowd of spectators, and was a plucky contest, etc., but don't tell which chicken whipped.

The Executive Committee of the Jackson County Agricultural Society have fixed upon Wednesday, September 24th, as the day for opening the annual fair of the Society. The fair will continue four days.

The following are the newly elected officers of the Cornelius Lodge, No. 40, I. O. O. F: C. H. Walker, N. G; H. C. Raymond, V. G; J. R. Spencer, R. S; D. L. Turpin, P. S; H. L. Barrett, Treasurer.

Everything is arranged for the celebration of the Fourth at Jacksonville. W. J. Stanley will deliver the oration, Thos. G. Reams will read the Declaration of Independence and Rev. Mr. Stahl will act as Chaplain.

The wheat fields about the Dalles present quite a contrast to those of the Wallamet valley. Many fields in that region are now about ready for the reaper, while in this valley but few fields have fairly begun to turn.

Next in order is as Myrtle Creek and announces a determination to celebrate the "glorious Fourth," with a grand celebration, barbacue, and all the jubilations of such occasions. The orator of the day is Gen. Joseph Lane.

At a regular meeting of Spencer Butte Lodge, No. 9, I. O. O. F., the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing six months: J. J. Walton, Jr., N. G; Wm Killingsworth, V. G.; Joel Ware, R. S; B. F. Dorris, Treas.

An Eastern paper says: "A Rhode Island druggist has just filled by mail an order from Oregon for a box of pills." Just let the doctors of Oregon catch that man and he will soon be in that land where there is no more taking pills.

The Cumberland Presbyterian church at Junction City was dedicated June 22d, Rev. T. H. Henderson of Salem preaching the dedicatory sermon. The collection amounted to $550, being $50 more than the indebtedness of the church.

The discovery of gold mines in Ochoco is creating considerable excitement in the eastern portion of Linn county, and the Santiam people are catching the fever with fearful rapidity. A number have already started from Scio for the auriferous fields.

At Eugene buyers are paying 65 cents for wheat. A wagon load of oats sold on the street at 35 cents per bushel; quotable at 35 to 40 cents. The supply of butter exceeds the demand, and we give 15 cents as buyers' price, retail, selling at 20 cents. Eggs, 15 cents.

Frank Powers, of Springfield, last week sheared 800 head of half-breed cotswold sheep, the whole lot averaging over 8½ pounds per head. Fifteen averaged 12 pounds a piece, thirty one averaged 11 pounds; forty six averaged 10 pounds; sixty-seven, 9 pounds.

An oak tree standing near the house of Mr. Rostin Welch, about two miles east of Forest Grove, was struck by lightning on Wednesday of last week. Mr. W.'s family were considerably shocked. The tree was torn to pieces and some of the limbs were thrown upon the house.

Mr. Marsh French returned to the Dalles last week from the new gold mines on Ochoco creek. He reports that none of the miners have as yet got their claims opened for washing, and also says that the mines may be good or they may not, no one can tell yet. The old experienced miners, who are opening claims, seem to think that they are going to pay well.

The Dalles municipal election resulted as follows: Mayor, R. Grant; Recorder, James A. Campbell; Marshal, Samuel Klein; Treasurer, E. Wingate; Councilmen, F. Dohm, J. W. French, Geo A. Liebe and John Moran. For the fifth Councilman the following gentlemen received the same number of votes: N. H. Gates, A. C. Phelps, L. Newman and J. M. Boall, and the matter is still undecided

Dr. McMahon, of Monroe, accompanied by Robert McMillan, late of Iowa, left Corvallis last week for Pass Creek, for the purpose of prospecting and developing coal mines in that locality. Dr. M. is confident that he has discovered rich and valuable coal fields immediately on the line of the Oregon and California railroad. Mr. McMillan is an experienced coal miner, and we shall await his report with interest.

The Salem Statesman says: "It will be remembered that some weeks ago a Mr. Riley Thorpe, of the South Santiam, disappeared, and that it was then supposed he was drowned in attempting to ford the Santiam river. Long search was made for the body, but without success. No trace of his fate could be discovered, save that his horse was found on an island in the river, and this but confirmed the supposition that the rider had been drowned. We hear a report, now, that the missing man was seen not long ago in Omaha. The story is that a lady who knew him well, having lived near him many years, being at Omaha, saw him get off the overland train, and that she tried to speak to him, but failed. She knew of no reason, at that time, why he should avoid her, but was under the impression that he saw her and got out of sight as quickly as possible. We, of course, know nothing about the reliability of this report."

The Mountaineer of last Saturday says: A drove of stock cattle from Marion county, belonging to a Mr. Lewis, arrived on Rock Creek in this county last week. This was the first drove to cross the Cascade mountains this season. They report about twelve miles of snow on the mountains. Other bands have since crossed and a large number of persons bound for the new mines in the Ochoco country. It is expected that the road over the mountains is now passable for wagons.

The Jacksonville Sentinel of Saturday last has news from the front, that eleven of the worst Modocs, including Captain Jack, are securely ironed and confined in a blockhouse, while the others are kept in barracks enclosed by pickets 20 feet high. A strong guard is kept up, night and day. The Commission is not yet organized; cause—too much red tape. No fault, however, of Gen. Davis. As soon as the Commission is organized, which will be completed in a few days, the General will start with a large force on his contemplated tour north.

On the 17th instant the schooner Challenge Co. quille, a vessel of eighty tons, was launched at Gardner. She was built for the Coquille lumber trade. There were then three vessels in port, loaded with lumber, ready for sea, the Sparrow, Jenny Thielsen and Bob o-link. Mr. E. Burchard has started a new store. On the whole, business is much better than it was a year ago. Should the charges upon the railroad be too exorbitant, Gardner always offers an easy and cheap way for the shipment of all the produce of the valley. We learn that an extensive celebration will be held there on the Fourth of July.

Isaac Henshaw, of Polk county, drowned himself on Friday of last week in Goose Creek. He is the same man who, a year ago last spring, went into the mountains and remained until he was nearly starved and his feet so badly frozen that they had to be amputated. His object then was to die of starvation. This time he adopted the surer, quicker and less painful way of dying by drowning. No cause is known why he should wish to end his life. He is supposed to have been partially insane at the time. He was well off in this world's goods, and leaves a wife and seven children; some of them married.

A correspondent, under date of June 25th, says: "Yesterday was quite an eventful day in Baker. At 10½ o'clock A. M., we had divine service by Rev. Mr. Nevius; at 1 o'clock P. M., the Masonic fraternity paraded—about fifty strong, headed by the brass band; marched through the principal streets to the Academy, where the Hon. James H. Slater orated to them; at 7 o'clock P. M., there was a wedding at the house of John P. Rose, Esq. Mr. James Fletcher, that popular and wealthy landlord of the Western, was united to Miss McMurren. The bride was lovely. After the wedding came a grand ball at the Court House. Everything passed off smoothly, and peace reigns this morning."

THE TERRITORIES.

Hon. A. G. Cook, of Vancouver, has gone on a visit to England.

The general office of Wells, Fargo & Co., is to be moved from Omaha to Salt Lake City about the 1st of July.

About six inches of snow fell on the mountain range north of Corinne, Utah, on the 22d of June, a very unusual occurrence.

The Sisters of The House of Providence at Vancouver, have awarded Messrs. Hidden and Ginder, a contract for 300,000 brick.

An animal known as the Tatouay (Dasypus Tatouay), a kind of Armadillo, has been discovered near the Battle Ground below Vancouver. It is about the size of a yearling bear.

The store of C Crosby & Son, at Tumwater, was broken into on the 27th and robbed of $200 in coin and $150 worth of clothing. To effect an entrance the lock was cut out of the door.

There seems to be some dissatisfaction with the collector of customs at Sitka. Perhaps some of the special treasury agents would do well to take a trip up there and investigate the matter.

Charles Bird, of Clarke county, W. T., has an old fiddle, for it was made in 1706, but not the oldest one on the coast, as the Register claims by over a hundred years. A man at Salem has one made in the 16th century.

The counsel for Raymond & Ely, in the famous law suit of Raymond & Ely vs Hermes is striving for a new trial. Some of the best talent on the Pacific coast is employed on both sides, and a long hard fought battle is expected.

The City Creek mines, at Salt Lake, is still all the talk in Zion. Several splendid prospects are said to be found, some of them showing up large and rich bodies of ore. Nothing to be relied on has been ascertained as yet, however.

George C. Bates, ex United States Attorney for Utah, after waging a war of words with different persons, through the press, now comes forward and avows that he will publish all he knows about official corruption in Utah since his brief, but brilliant, career in this Territory. It will be startling, no doubt.

The Register gives the following as the dimensions of the building which the Sisters propose to have put under roof at Vancouver the present season: The main building will be 135 feet front by 50 feet deep, with a wing extending back from the front 190 by 35 feet, forming in shape a cross form. Portico in front same width as wing: The whole to be three stories, aggregating 40 feet in height. Entire length of walls, 750 feet. They have also upon the same grounds, a frame building nearly completed 20 by 60 feet, two stories high, which will be used at present for a carpenter's shop, but designed for stables and carriage houses eventually.

The Olympia Tribune of June 29th says: "Judge Rice, Capt. Ainsworth and Gen. Sprague, after examining and inspecting Tacoma, spent about a day looking at Seattle, traveling over the sawdust, through the woods in the outskirts of town, and out to Lakes Washington and Union. From there they went to Muckilteo and spent four hours in the wilderness there, returning on the Alida Wednesday night to Seattle. Yesterday they left that place, coming this way, taking another look at Tacoma, and quitting the steamer at Steilacoom. They are supposed to be there now, and the Steilacoomites are said to be elated with their prospects."

A letter from Chamberlain Flat, W. T., to the Mountaineer says: "Some new comers from the Sound have lately moved up here and like these parts so well that they have concluded to take up ranches on the opposite side, where the willows and rye grass grow so abundantly that there is no need of putting up hay for winter use. Just now we all are employed in catching driftwood, and thousands of nice logs are floating along, while some dozen boats and men are constantly employed in hauling in wood for winter use. Mr. Chamberlain succeeded in securing one nice cedar log eighty feet long and ten feet through at the butt. He thinks it will make over one thousand posts. Messrs. Eaton & Jenkins have done a very fine thing in this business and have caught wood enough to last for two years to come. Peaches and all kinds of fruit are doing well. Mr. Higgenbothem will have over one hundred bushels of peaches, to judge from the present appearances of his orchard, and other fruit in large proportion.

Examination of Teachers for State Certificates.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

It is near the time appointed for the examination of teachers seeking State Certificates. The general public has a very imperfect knowledge of the duties of the Board of Education, and is very poorly qualified to appreciate the labor, talent, care, and honesty required to discharge those duties properly. In the hope of imparting a little useful information to young teachers, of making a few suggestions to inexperienced County Superintendents, of satisfying, in a measure, the liberal curiosity of the reading public, I am willing to devote a leisure hour to explaining the difficulties that have to be overcome by the Board, what teachers are generally required to do and to know, the methods generally adopted at the examinations, and whatever else I may chance to think of as I write.

How far should the examination be carried in each branch? What degree of thoroughness should be exacted in each part? What difference should be made in the different grades of certificates? Should the examination in any of the grades extend beyond the branches named in the common school law? If it should, what branches should be added? What degree of thoroughness should be demanded in these additional branches? Should the examinations be oral, or written, or both? How much experience should be demanded for certificates of the first and second rank? What kind of proof must be given of successful practice?

To answer these questions wisely, at the very beginning, is of incalculable importance to the future education of Oregon. Truth lies at a central point between divergent errors, and every good cause has as much to fear from new conceits as from old prejudices. On one hand there is danger of so relaxing the rigor of the examinations as to make the certificate worthless. On the other hand the danger is of making it so severe that none but men of the most finished education could hope to pass. Nothing could be more unfortunate than to degrade the standard down to the level of superficial, shallow, flippant mediocrity. It must not be forgotten, however, that the object of Life Certificates is to benefit the teachers of common schools and not the professors of colleges. The law that grants them is a part of the common school law of the State. This gives rise to a reasonable doubt whether proficiency in any branches, other than those mentioned in the school law, is necessary for any State Certificate.

For certificates of the first and second class, the Board requires some knowledge of algebra, geometry, and physiology, as additional branches. The ordeal will appear insignificant to some, but a complete mastery of the subjects named in the common school law is much more rarely possessed than is generally supposed. And I venture the prediction, that if some of the applicants fail, the failure will arise from want of thoroughness in the branches enumerated in the law. The standard could not be lowered without compromising the character of every teacher in the State, nor much raised without an unwarrantable departure from the law. It is one which no really good teacher needs fear, one which no undisciplined, superficial teacher can pass.

Examinations are never so formidable to the well prepared, as when conducted by some ignoramus. With educated men, the teacher is sure of having carefully worded, sensible questions to answer. In history, he will not be startled by the question, "What happened in America after the death of John Smith?" Nor in arithmetic, will he need to fear that he cannot tell readily, "What are the sides of a triangle which contain an acre?" The writer once had a chance on the last question. He supposed the triangle equilateral and was pleased to find that the result agreed with the one expected.

With able teachers for examiners, the examination will be more philosophical than technical. By men of this character, a knowledge of governing principles, of general truths, of the broad outlines of a subject will be required. Isolated facts and barren statistics will have little opportunity to air themselves. In geography, the relation of the earth to the solar system; the cause of day and night and of the seasons; the elements of mathematical and of physical geography; a clear general view of the whole world; the races that inhabit its different parts with their characteristics and degrees of civilization, will be considered of more importance than to be ready to name in the order of their size every town and hut in Africa. If a teacher can give a clear analysis of the rules of common fractions, can explain and illustrate the principles of decimals, can give a complete demonstration of the methods of extracting the square and cube roots of numbers; if in working his examples, he adopts the right method of solution, he need not fear that a chance mistake in the operation will detract materially from his standing. There examples are only illustrative, and any other studies would do as well. No examination by question and answer will determine a teacher's ability for explanation. Aside from the suspicion that it is possible for some of the teachers to gain a previous knowledge of the printed questions, there are strong reasons for having much of the examination oral. Give a teacher a subject and require him to explain it, to illustrate it, to teach it. This will show how well he can teach; and it is of as much importance to know how a teacher teaches, as it is to know what he can teach. There is no way to prevent unfairness except to select such men for examiners as will not suffer it.

When the questions are printing, great care should be taken to prevent any of them from scattering carelessly around the neighborhood. There is a method much favored in many of the cities, counties and States, which, with more or less modification, will probably be adopted at Salem. In a box, slips of papers are placed having numbers on from one to a hundred or more. Each candidate draws one number from the box, writes his address in full on a slip of paper and incloses the slip in an envelope. He puts his number expressed in figures on the sealed envelope "only this and nothing more"—and drops the envelope thus numbered into some box agreed upon. On every sheet of paper that he writes he places his number in the upper right hand corner. The examiners decide what each number deserves, then open the envelopes to find the names corresponding to the numbers. If the candidate has any credit from the oral examination, that is now added and his result is complete. In the oral part of the examination the candidates are generally divided into three or more classes, so that each one can have the benefit of an oral examination in each branch. If each examiner has charge of some particular branch, the classes change rooms.

I cannot take space for any more at present.

Yours, THULAH-ASTORIA.

Henry Ward Beecher says of the late Chief Justice Chase's aspirations for the Presidency:

No man since Webster has had this fever, this gnawing lust for the highest name and power, like Salmon P. Chase. His name sparkled and swayed beneath the jewelry of all our statalist civic titles save one—Senator, Governor, Cabinet member, Chief Justice—but none appeased the voracity of his ambition while the culminating one was lacking. It is probable that the clutch of his hope upon it never quite relaxed until the nomination of Horace Greeley at Baltimore. This was a weakness, it is true, but it was a weakness in which he had uncommonly good company.

Newton Jacobs, a lad about fifteen years of age, living at Ashland, in Jackson county, met with a sad accident on Wednesday of last week, while riding on an ox wagon. He was sitting on a log that was on the wagon, attending to the brake, and while going down hill the rope with which he was operating the brake suddenly parted, which caused him to fall from the log under one of the wheels, which ran over and crushed both of his thighs.

Andrew Savis, a half breed Indian, and Geo. Beezley, a drunken, half crazy loafer, lately from Portland, were arrested on the 24th instant, in the Dalles, for selling liquor to Indians, and on being taken before James A. Campbell, a Justice of the Peace, were committed to appear before the United States Court for trial at the next regular session.

EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 29.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Suit against O. O. Howard.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—In view of the proposed action to be brought against Gen. Howard, as Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, for deficiency in his accounts, search was made to-day at the office of the First Comptroller of the Treasury for his bonds, and also bonds of twelve sub Commissioners. The act creating the Bureau provided that the Commissioner shall give bonds in the sum of $50,000, sub-Commissioners in the sum of $20,000 each, and the chief Clerk in the sum of $20,000.

Those Mexican States Again.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—It is said that a company of Americans has been organized who propose to purchase from the Government of Mexico two or three of the Mexican States with a view to developing their mineral [illegible]. The States [illegible] to be held in view by the parties are Chihuahua, Sonora and [illegible].

A Congressman Dies of Cholera.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue received a telegram announcing that Collector Jas. Mullins, late member of Congress from the Fourth Tennessee District, died yesterday at Shelbyville, Tennessee, of cholera.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Internal Revenue receipts to-day were $310,985, for the month, $8,[illegible]; for the fiscal year to date, $114,472,560.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Charles P. Wallcott is appointed Internal Storekeeper for the First California District; and Daniel T. Dickerson, Ganger for the same.

Important Ruling.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The Secretary of the Interior has made the following important ruling: When a homestead is [illegible], and the [illegible] claimant has found land at the date of any [illegible], with others who design taking land under the pre-emption laws, the [illegible] being legally upon the land his settlement right vests instantly on such [illegible]; while claimants having gone on the land while it was covered by said home[illegible] were trespassers, and the [illegible] claimant is the preferred party under the pre-emption laws.

Origin of the Modoc War.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Hon. J. K. Luttrell, Congressman elect from the Third California District, writes to Commissioner Smith of the Indian Bureau an account of his recent visit to the scene of the Modoc war. He says he has only been able to arrive at one conclusion in reference to it, viz., that it was caused by wrongful acts of California whites. He is informed on what seems to him reliable authority, that the Modocs were compelled to slaughter their horses for food on the Klamath reservation, and having exhausted their means of subsistence, were then compelled to seek fishing and hunting grounds on their old reservation on Lost river. He regretted to say that there never was a time since the organization of the Government that there was so much corruption and swindling, not only upon the Government and people, but upon the Indians, as there is to-day being practiced on Indian reservations on the Pacific coast.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Mr. Luttrell, in his letter to Secretary Delano on the Modoc war, condemns the killing of Mr. Meacham and Mr. [illegible] to the satisfaction of the people and the Indians, and I regret they were not retained as [illegible]. I do not know who is to blame nor do I [illegible] any particular agent of corruption, but we know that much has [illegible] and before [illegible] that the guilty parties may be found. We have lost many valuable [illegible] in this war, and if any person or persons have been guilty of inciting the Modocs to war he, or they, should be punished. I am willing, if you can [illegible] the authority, to aid and assist in the investigation of all [illegible] which may be found or be [illegible] the [illegible] who have [illegible] of the war. I [illegible] through investigation, and if I can in any way aid the Government and people in aiding or [illegible] the investigation, [illegible] Jones."

[illegible]

WASHINGTON, June 28.—[illegible] has not yet completed his investigation [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] for he has [illegible] in that direction.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Edward W[illegible] twelve [illegible] his parents at a funeral.

CINCINNATI, June 28.—Fourteen deaths from cholera to-day

Beecher-Bowen Scandal.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The Brooklyn Eagle says the Examining Committee of Plymouth Church received from F. West specific charges of slander against Henry C. Bowen. It is charged that he has circulated slanders against Henry Ward Beecher which are false, and his (Bowen's) expulsion is called for. An investigation is to be made immediately, and Beecher is desirous that the investigation should be made at once.

The Eagle [illegible]: This morning a reporter called upon Halliday, who, in answer to a request for a copy of the charges, said: "You can't get them from me, sir." He further refused any information concerning the proposed investigation. The reporter came in contact with several prominent members of Beecher's Church, and the general opinion seemed to be that it would be better for the Church if the investigation were carried on in public. On very good authority it has been ascertained that the charges refer in the main to certain utterances of Bowen at a recent conference which took place at the house of Victoria C. Woodhull.

Ben. Butler's Chances.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The Tribune has a letter from Boston on the political situation in Massachusetts, closing as follows: "The present prospects are that General Butler will gain his nomination through the aid of the Administration and the use of party machinery, to which he will be further helped by dissatisfaction with Gov. Washburn's course on the liquor question. The same influence will do much to insure his election, and large accessions of volunteers from the Democratic party will also greatly contribute to this end."

Billiard Tournament.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The fifteenth game in the billiard tournament was played this afternoon by Cyrille Dion and Albert Garnier, and was won by the former; Dion, 300, Garnier, 206.

Wagner Heard From.

BOSTON, June 28.—A dispatch from Springfield, Me., states that three men supposed to be Wagner and his companions, were seen in that town on Wednesday. The next morning the party was at Sanford Corners, where they obtained crackers and cheese and hastily returned to the woods. Two of them had revolvers.

COOS BAY ITEMS.

Our regular correspondent, writing from Empire City under date of June 24th, sends the following:

Tom Merry has purchased the Coos Bay News.

Weather disagreeable last week; now more pleasant.

Coal shipment past week was 850 tons, and lumber, ditto, 700 M feet.

Samuel Douglass and Nat. [illegible] your neighborhood, are here on a [illegible] tour.

The steamer Eastport, on her down trip last week, carried forty five passengers from Coos Bay.

A Chinaman, who has a garden at the [illegible] of Alder street, deals out daily fresh vegetables to our citizens.

A rowing match on the fourth [illegible] month will be an attractive feature. Other games prizes and see the effect.

The people are awaiting patiently the [illegible] tion of the Coos Bay road [illegible] line, which will afford greater mail facilities.

Mr. [illegible] Leighton, from Port [illegible], W. T., special agent of the Treasury Department, [illegible] in town the past week making arrangements to get the Custom House in running order.

A family lately arrived from North Carolina have gone into crude turpentine gathering, which can be procured in large quantities for their trade. The business is new here and may prove profitable.

We are going to have an excellent time here on the Fourth of July. Orations, [illegible], salutes, singing, dancing, and much good eating will constitute the day's festivities. Wish you could be with us.

The arrivals for the week ending this day were: schooners Lovett Peacock, Ivanhoe, Parallel, Big River, Concordia and brig Sheet Anchor. Sailed, steamer Eastport, barkentine Emma Augusta, schooners H. L. Tiernan, Oregonian and B. H. Ramsdell.

The schooner Gotama took on her last trip down, a large quantity of myrtle logs. The logs are very valuable. A chamber set in San Francisco made of this wood cost $875, and a saloon in the same city is finished with the myrtle at a cost of $20,000. The ladies' saloon of a steamer plying on San Francisco Bay is finished of the same material, the cost of which was $37,[illegible]

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 30, 1873

Limitations on the Pardoning Power.

The Convention to form a new constitution for Pennsylvania, have proposed a restraint upon the exercise of the pardoning power by the Executive. Instead of being a prerogative of the Executive to be exercised by the Governor alone, it is proposed as a part of the organic law of the commonwealth that no pardon shall be granted by the Governor, except upon the written recommendation of the Secretary of State, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Auditor of State, or three of these officers. And they are prohibited from making such recommendation until after a regular and full hearing of the case, on behalf of both the convict proposed to be pardoned and the State. Their recommendation is, in all cases, to be in writing, is to specify at length the reasons that influence them to make the recommendation, and is to be filed as a part of the records of the State. And when all this has been done, the Governor can grant the pardon or refuse to, as in his judgment the circumstances of the case demand.

This is an example that all the States might profit by. Executive clemency has been made a refuge for rogues to such an extent, that many intelligent and thoughtful persons have doubted whether the whole system of nullifying the judgments of the Courts, by the use of the pardoning power, ought not to be abolished. There are cases where it is highly proper for the Executive to pardon a man who has been duly convicted by the Courts; but they are comparatively rare, and the exercise of this mercy where it ought to be withheld, occurs so many times to every one instance of its being deserved, that it is very doubtful whether the evils consequent upon its being vested in the Executive, are not greater than the benefits. The course of the Pennsylvania Convention seems less objectionable than either the vesting the power in the Executive alone, or the entire abolishment. The fact, that before the Executive clemency can be invoked, it is necessary to appear before four other high officers of the Government, meet the counsel of the State there, have a regular hearing upon the facts of the case and convince at least three of these four officers that justice and good order would be promoted by granting the pardon, will of itself prevent many of the applications that deluge many of the executive offices of the States under the present system; and will also prevent the success of many of the applications which, under the present system, are improperly, or at least unadvisedly, granted.

A Wisconsin journal says that Ole Bull, Prof. R. B. Anderson, of the Wisconsin University, Senator J. A. Johnson, and other prominent Norwegians, are raising money to build a monument to Leif Erikson, "the discoverer of America." The first named gentleman has already given some concerts, and will give a few more before leaving for Norway, the entire proceeds to be devoted to the monument fund. The total amount to be [illegible] is ten thousand dollars. The testimonial will be placed in Madison or in Chicago, and is to be [illegible] with great pomp and ceremony on the centennial anniversary of American Independence. Ole Bull, Biornson, the famous Norwegian author and poet, and other celebrities will be present on the occasion, together with such hosts of the enthusiastic Norwegians, from Wisconsin and adjoining States, as have never before seen together outside the borders of Norway. Leif Erikson, whose name is to be inscribed on the monument, was a bold navigator who discovered America in the year 1000. This is what the [illegible] says, and circumstantial evidence [illegible] to corroborate the Icelandic records.

They are poking fun at good, patient, old Boston because she refused to give Professor Wise $3,000 [illegible] to fly across the Atlantic in his [illegible] ship. We can explain the following on no hypothesis other than a morbid [illegible] which prevails in certain iniquitous [illegible] to sneer at everything Bostonian:

> The ingratitude of the Hub of the universe [illegible] the country at large, which had looked forward to the successful drowning of that [illegible] aeronaut with a philanthropic feeling which [illegible] every twenty-four hours that brought his sad a day nearer.

The appropriation of $3,000 was once made on condition that the scientific men of Boston should pronounce the Professor's scheme a [illegible] one. But now this would be a most affecting incident: let Boston devote $3,000 on condition that the aeronaut kidnap the dunce who started the sneer above quoted, and drop him in the briny deep. We don't want him to die. We would be willing to take chances on his head's swimming.

At the [illegible] of the P[illegible] Library, in London, a few weeks since, some [illegible] famous prices were paid for [illegible] and printed books. A correspondent of the New York Tribune writes that a copy of "Lydgate's Siege of Troy" (English manuscript) brought £1,320; Shakespeare, first folio edition, £585; "Biblia Sacra Latina, known as the Mazarin Bible, on vellum," £3,400. "This latter," says the correspondent, who is a famous bookseller of New York, "is probably the highest price ever paid for a single volume, being equal to $21,400 in American currency." The "Biblia Sacra," the same book printed on paper, brought £2,690. The entire sale realized £26,000 or $136,000 for 865 books.

The people of Sacramento County, California, have nominated a ticket to be supported at the coming election, regardless of party. It is said this example will be imitated in several counties. The main question in that county, and probably in all those in which a similar movement is contemplated, is whether the State and County Governments are to be carried on in the interest of the public or of the Central Pacific Railway Company?

A San Francisco Chronicle special from Washington states that "the friends of Senator Mitchell here are perfectly satisfied with his explanation of the charges against him, growing out of his troubles in Pennsylvania years ago." A nice, clean community is Washington. St. Louis' chances for being the National Capital will grow brighter after a few more salvos to "youthful indiscretions" like the above.

Notorious William Varley, otherwise known as "Reddy the Blacksmith," was arrested a week since in New York, on complaint of Henry Bergh, for cruelty to animals in a brutal dog-fight.

The laws of Illinois allow women to practice as lawyers. A Miss Hulitt, who has just been admitted to the bar, is represented as a very intelligent and promising young lawyer.

The Holly Water Works in Sacramento.

The city of Sacramento last year contracted for the building of water works upon the Holly plan, and the work is now completed. Various preliminary and special tests have been made within the last fortnight, such as testing the strength of the house pipes put in under the old system to ascertain if they were sufficient to bear the pressure of the new works, trying the pressure on particular mains with others shut off, &c., &c. Results thus far have been eminently satisfactory. There has, however, been no general test of the works yet. The nearest approach to such a test was that of which a full account was given in the Bee of the 21st inst., as follows:

> Between 9 and 10 o'clock this morning the Holly machinery was put in motion for the purpose of testing, with 150 pounds water pressure, the new water mains extending along I street, from Front to Ninth streets, and along Ninth from B to Q. The gates leading from these mains were all closed and every avenue of escape shut off so that the test might be thorough. But one of the rotary pumps was thrown into gear, and with this the pressure was raised to 150 pounds, and there was no leak. After having been retained there some minutes it was lowered to 100 pounds and then gently raised again to 150 and kept standing a while as before, and all was well. Again it was lowered to 100 pounds and again started up to reach 150, but when it marked 140 the fly wheel began to revolve with rapidity, but in a few seconds the water governor checked it, and all said something had burst; and there, on I street, in front of the water works building, a cloud of water had arisen from the earth like a great puff of smoke, fell and was gone, for after the first spurt the steam was cut off and the machinery obeyed its governor with far more precision than if human hands had been managing it—for the water is incapable of making a mistake. A great hole had been made in the ground—the street was flooded for a little distance, and it was at once surmised that the lead packing had been blown out of the sleeve which covers the joint where the cast iron pipe and sheet iron pipe meet. Immediately the laborers were set at work digging, the joint was soon reached, and sure enough there lay that entire lead packing, a full inch thick by four inches to 4½ inches long, where it had been hammered hot between the sleeve and the pipe, crowded some two feet away through the earth. The pipes were not injured anywhere. All along the line the pressure was at every point equal, and this, so far as known, was the only injury. It was feared that some of the man holes in the sheet pipe might give way, but those fears appear thus far to have been groundless. The city authorities and those having charge of the work were highly pleased with the result. And the public present, who knew nothing of mechanics, were entirely satisfied that there must have been an enormous pressure on to produce this result. The pipe stood the pressure gallantly, and that was all that was hoped for.

It will be observed that this test was applied only to the new mains. From other dates of the Bee we learn that with a pressure of only 50 pounds to the inch which was put on in order to test the house pipes, water was thrown from the fire hydrants over the top of a three-story building. This is what is called domestic pressure, and is much lighter than that which is calculated for the extinguishment of fires. With the fire pressure on one of these mains, a stream was thrown 110 feet high. A grand final test of the entire works is to be made on the Fourth of July. These water works have cost much less than the estimated cost of putting in Holly works for our city, and from all we have been able to learn we cannot but think the actual cost here would be far less than the estimate.

The happy family of Democracy in Sacramento county, California, had a pleasant little tea-party in the capital the other day, which the papers jocularly nicknamed "Convention." The first proceeding of importance was a motion that each candidate for office be assessed $5 each to defray the expenses of the Convention. Thereafter in the matter of declining nominations there seemed to be a remarkable unanimity among the candidates. The assessment was then reduced to $2 50, whereupon a Cadmian crop of politicians, anxious for the popular suffrage, arose. One gentleman, whose candidacy for the Assembly was strongly contested, withstood the opposition as long as human nature could endure, and finally broke forth in the following remarks: "When I came into this Convention, I came into it honest; I came into it candid; I came into it as a Democrat." And then, after having given a sufficient time for due appreciation of the climax, he continued, sorrowfully: "I have never before understood that my age, or any man's age, is a detriment. If my age is a detriment to me, if it is a fault, it is a fault I am growing out of every day." Thus he continued in regretful tone. Horan was nominated, Horan declined, and Horan's declination was accepted joyfully. After which there was great confusion, which led one gentleman to affirm that he had "seen a great many Democratic conventions, but this one took the lead of anything he had seen in his life." Dr. Nichols (formerly Secretary of State) thought the party all right—only a little demoralized. With which consoling reflection the Convention adjourned.

Iron has been discovered in inexhaustible quantities in Calaveras county, California. The mine is situated in the low mountains known as the Limestone Range, and is easy of access. The ore is reported to yield as high as 70 per cent. pure metal.

The Report of the Bureau of Statistics shows that the breadstuffs exported from the United States in 1872, lacked $34,000,000 of being sufficient to pay for the sugar and syrup imported. This is a nut for our economists to crack.

Important to Teachers.

The following notice is of interest to whom it may concern:

OFFICE STATE SUP. PUBLIC INSTRUCTION,
June 29, 1873.

The first regular Semi Annual Session of the State Board of Examination will be held at Salem at the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction on the 7th day of July, 1873, beginning at 10 o'clock A. M. Candidates for Life Diplomas, State Diplomas and State Certificates, will then be examined in the studies heretofore agreed upon and announced by the State Board.

Applicants must report to the State Superintendent promptly at the hour named.

As this will be the only State Examination held this year, all teachers who are desirous of obtaining State Certificates of any grade will do well to avail themselves of this opportunity of doing so.

SYL. C. SIMPSON,
State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Celebration at Jefferson.

At a meeting of the citizens of Jefferson and vicinity, held June 27, 1873, it was resolved to celebrate the coming Fourth by a procession, an oration, reading of the Declaration of Independence, singing, and a basket dinner.

A general invitation was extended to everybody to come, bring their baskets, and participate in the celebration.

M. V. Brown, Esq., was chosen Orator, C. B. Roland, Esq., Reader of the Declaration, and Jesse Parrish, Marshal.

A General Committee of Management was chosen as follows: J. M. Johns, O. Pickard, Mr. Rutherford, A. L. Stinson, J. J. Brown, J. M. Metzler, A. Smith and C. B. Roland.

Collector Busby has appointed Hon. A. A. Skinner, Chief Clerk and Inspector of Customs for Empire City. The appointment gives general satisfaction.

FROM OUR SALEM CORRESPONDENT.

SALEM, June 28, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The week has been one of excitement, caused by all the different schools of this city closing their terms, except the Catholic, which will not occur until next week. This city has become somewhat noted as the seat of education. The oldest, and probably the best in the State is the Willamette University, which has closed a very successful term. Of the exercises your readers have already been apprised, so I will not speak any further of it, but will refer to the

THE BLIND SCHOOL,

Which closed the first term last Thursday. The last Legislature appropriated $2,000 for the purpose of educating that unfortunate class of our citizens, and Miss Simpson, a blind young lady, was selected as teacher by the State Board. This lady is every way competent to take charge, and has proven to be a very successful teacher. Although there were only five scholars, the teacher evinced the same interest as if there had been fifty. The studies consisted of reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, music, &c., and the progress that they made was a gratifying surprise to even the most ardent friends, and was so expressed by the State Board who attended the examination. It is the intention that this is only a nucleus, which will ultimately form the State institution. The next and one that has met the most determined opposition is the

DISTRICT FREE SCHOOLS,

Which to day held their closing exercises in Reed's Opera House. There are five of them, and the exercises consumed the day and evening, the smaller scholars having their exhibition in the afternoon before a large audience, and acquitted themselves with great credit. But the higher branch was postponed until the evening, when they were greeted with an immense audience, who were well paid for attending and enjoyed the occasion. The programme consisted of music, dialogues, essays and declamations. The music was excellent, and heartily applauded in the usual noisy demonstrations of Young America. Three young ladies read essays, and two young gentlemen declaimed for prizes. Miss Carrie Cornelius received the prize for the best reader, and Mr. Norris Cox as declaimer. During the entire evening the scholars were greeted with showers of bouquets, lavishly bestowed by an enthusiastic audience. The valedictory was read by Miss Epsie Cox, who acquitted herself with great credit, and highly complimented the Board of Directors for the success of their labors. The exhibition had a good effect on the audience, and will undoubtedly convince all that a free school is necessary and can be successful.

During the week, as a gentleman remarked to me who has always lived on the frontier, the times have "pierted up," and all the business men are looking forward to good times. There has been a considerable amount of wool sold, although only commanding from 21 to 22 cents per pound. But a great many farmers and wool growers have not sheared or offered their wool for sale, and are inclined to hold for better prices.

To day a large number of Chinese went down to Lake Labish for the purpose of cutting a large ditch, as the most of it has been located as

SWAMP LAND,

And the claimants are compelled to accord to the law, to reclaim it, sufficiently to produce a crop within a certain time after location, which will prove to be a benefit in that case at least. But I was unable to ascertain the length of the proposed cut, but will try to keep you posted as to the success of the enterprise and the benefits accruing therefrom.

Two of our most successful sheep raisers, Mr. J. Minto and T. L. Davidson, have already sold their surplus Merino stock sheep. The buyers are Mr Nye, of Klickitat valley, W. A curious proposition has been introduced into the Ohio Constitutional Convention. It is to establish what is called the principle of "recall" in case of members of the Legislature; that is, permitting the majority of any constituency to recall and dismiss their Representative from the service whenever they get tired of him, whether his term has expired or not.

A special dispatch from Washington to the Boston Post says that "within a few days it has been discovered that all the archives of the War Department pertaining to the secret history of the rebellion have been stolen. It is known that they were all in the War Office when Mr. Stanton retired. He had them systematically briefed and stowed away in a safe place, and had he lived and remained in public life they would probably have figured largely in preventing the appointment of men to office who have since shown that they were no better fitted for the Civil Service than they were for positions of trust and high command in the army. These private archives covered a period of time from the first battle of Bull Run down to the surrender of Lee's army. They embraced orders for courts martial with their findings, some of them sentencing the offenders to be shot, records of which the people were ignorant.

THE VIENNA EXPOSITION.

WHAT A GREAT SHOW IT IS, AND WHAT A SMALL PART AMERICA HAS IN IT.

We are permitted, by John Gates, Esq., to take the following extract from a letter just received by him from William Burnett, Esq., the engineer, who is doing the Vienna Exposition:

> You will see that I have arrived in the great Babel, Vienna. I have been here some time, but have seen hardly anything of the Exhibition as yet. It will require a month at least to get the hang of it. I have not been through one quarter of it, and I go there every day and am there from morning till night.
> It is almost impossible to give you an idea of the magnitude of this great show. There are in all about forty buildings devoted to the exposition of manufactures and machinery, and the fine arts—painting and sculpture. The main building, on which is the great central dome, is 3,600 feet long and about 1,000 feet wide. The center upon which the dome rests is about 700 feet square. This main building has projected from its sides 32 wings, each about 300 feet long and 75 feet wide. The next building of importance is that in which the moving steam machinery is placed; it is 300 feet long and 250 feet wide. The dome on the principal building is of iron, and under it is a clear space of 100 feet in diameter without support; it is the largest dome in the world. I believe from the ground to the top of the dome is about 350 feet. The walls of the machinery building and the portals of the main building, are of solid masonry—not of wood.
> There are are at least 50 locomotive engines on exhibition, from Russia, England, Germany, France and Belgium; and the English have not less than 100 portable engines, with steam plows, common road engines, steam cranes, &c. The Belgians have also a great display of steam machinery; and the Swiss likewise. The Belgians have one heavy compound blowing engine 8 feet diameter, and one double oscillating marine engine with paddle wheels all complete, just as if it were in a vessel. The Swiss have the finest stationary steam engines with automatic cut-off. They knock the Corliss Engine higher than a kite. They have puppet valves, are extremely simple, and work without the least noise.
> The United States makes the poorest show of any country here, for which I am very sorry. What we have in the Exposition is good, but there is really so little of it that the whole is stowed away in one little corner, that you would pass by without attention, or never look twice at it. A great many things to be exhibited, are yet in the packing cases, and every person is working hard to get his division completed; but it will take at least a month yet to get everything in condition.
> The Exposition does not close until the 31st of October, and any one who comes to see it must devote one entire month to the examination; that is, just to look at it. To carefully examine the machinery department I will have to stay here about two and a half months, at least, and devote my time exclusively to that business.
> It is difficult to give a correct idea of what is to be seen here in the machinery line; I can only say everything. You could not mention anything that is not found here in perfection. All kinds of engines, valves, pumps, ship work, sewing machines, sugar machinery, mills of all kinds, boilers, lathes, planers, sawing machinery, iron-rolling machinery, steam gauges, water gauges, barometers, governors, philosophical apparatus, brick-making machines, hydraulic machinery, steam plows, cotton and wool spinning machinery, silk weaving apparatus, reapers, mowers, fans, lighthouse machinery, lamps, steering gear, propellers, boats, oilers (none so good as yours), barrel machinery—well I could just write on to the end of the sheet, and then not get through."

Not Begging

FURTHER THAN I HAVE DONE UP TO THE present time in regard to obtaining employment at my trade as a legal and regular blacksmith forger of twenty two years' experience on this coast. As I am thoroughly informed that I cannot get employment in this city for the support of my family, I must leave in quest of such to some other place than Portland; and in doing so, I must acknowledge the very great kindness rendered to me in Portland.

For Sale,

850,000 Acres of Land

IN SOUTHERN OREGON.

Title Perfect—U. S. Land Grant Fully Confirmed.

THE "PACIFIC LAND COMPANY," INCORPORATED with capital stock of 5,000 shares of par value of $240 each, have purchased the road and entire land grant of the "OREGON CENTRAL MILITARY ROAD COMPANY," consisting of over 850,000 acres of Agricultural Grazing & Timber Lands,

Passing from Eugene City (125 miles from Portland by Railroad), through the splendid "Lake Country," to Silver City, near the border of Idaho.

Each share of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY thus representing now over 160 acres of land, and is UNASSESSABLE.

Three thousand shares belong to the Company, and will be offered for sale by us, the entire proceeds of which will go into the Treasury.

The first one thousand shares will be offered at $120 per share, United States Currency—say at the rate of 75 cents per acre. Every share will also be received at its par value of $240, in payment for land, as soon as the appraisals are made. Such share will then be cancelled, and not reissued, and a deed given to the purchaser.

The land will be appraised at moderate rates, in accordance with its actual value, as soon as practicable, in sections of 640 acres, and at not less than $1 50 per acre, U. S. Currency, and offered for sale. Actual settlers, however, always having preference.

We refer, as to the character of this magnificent grant of land, to CLARENCE KING, Esq., the U. S. Geologist for this coast, who is familiar with it from personal observation, and to the elaborate report of the Hon. B. J. Pengra, late Surveyor General of Oregon, on this road and lands, from which we quote: "There is but very little of the entire grant but what is valuable for either Farming, Grazing or Lumbering purposes."

As shares are cancelled, the average of acres to the remaining shares will naturally increase, and from cash sales dividends will be declared.

IMMIGRANTS,

BY BUYING THESE SHARES, CAN SECURE GOOD LANDS, WITH PERFECT TITLE, AT LESS THAN GOVERNMENT RATES.

For Cost [illegible] the shares of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY [illegible] based on the lands [illegible] to CHILDREN, [illegible]

CITY.

HOT SHOT.—A shooting affair took place last Saturday evening about 9 o'clock at the corner of Alder and Second streets, between two colored men named Wellington and Gale. The affray resulted in Wellington receiving a pistol shot in the side of the face. Between these parties has existed no good feelings for the last two months, the difference originating in an alleged improper intimacy between Wellington and Gale's wife. Threats, it is said, had of late been indulged in by Gale against Wellington, and the latter party had been forbidden to enter his (Gale's) house. The two parties happened to meet on Saturday night in front of the Cornucopia Saloon. High words ensued and blows followed, during which Gale discharged his pistol at Wellington. The ball took effect on the under side of the jawbone, on the right side. It glanced from the bone and passed on towards the neck. In its course, the ball grazed the jugular vein and ranged downward through the fleshy portion of the neck. Almost simultaneously with the discharge of the pistol, the cries of "murder and police" smote the ear. Officer McCoy was standing at the corner of First and Alder streets when the pistol shot was heard. He ran with all speed towards the scene. When he reached the spot, he found Wellington and Gale clinched and desperately fighting. McCoy wrested the pistol from Gale's hand, and after some difficulty separated the assailants. Wellington was bleeding profusely and the extent of his injuries could not be determined until a physician was summoned. The course of the ball was traced as far as was thought safe. Up to the present writing the ball has not been [illegible]. It is the opinion of the attending physician that the injuries will not prove fatal. Gale was taken to jail at once where he is now. The examination will probably come up this [illegible] in the Police Court.

A FREAK OF NATURE.—By the last steamer there arrived a gentleman who may be regarded in some [illegible] as a most remarkable individual. The left arm of this man, by some inexplicable freak of nature, has been suppressed from about three inches below the elbow, there being no forearm and hand. The phenomenon consists in the lower portion of the arm, or "stub," having the [illegible] of a diminutive head and perfect face of an apparently slumbering, new born babe, which, at the will of the exhibitor, gives signs of vitality, moves, amusingly endeavors to free itself, etc. Viewed through a glass, it assumes the semblance of a new born lion. Another remarkable feature is a tiny finger with a tiny fingernail [illegible] in the lower part of the left cheek, [illegible] are no traces whatever of the intermediate arm and hand. This gentleman proposes to [illegible], for the first time, before a Portland public [illegible] evening, and exhibit this wonderful [illegible]. He will, in addition, lecture on literary and scientific topics, and others selected from his own extensive observations. He claims to be able to speak fluently the English, German, French, Spanish and Italian languages, and will [illegible] any [illegible] made in either of them. To-morrow evening he will lecture specially on the [illegible] of "Goethe and the Creations of his [illegible]." The lecture will be interspersed with [illegible], "Poetical Gems" in English and [illegible], and "[illegible] of Gold" from Faust and the [illegible] works. Immediately following the lecture will be the exhibition of the [illegible] physical [illegible]. Music will be furnished during the evening by one of the leading pianists of the city. A matinee performance will also be given on Wednesday, from 11 A. M. to 2 P. M.

A BIT OF FUN AT SALEM.—[illegible] a gentleman who arrived from Salem yesterday morning we learn that the [illegible] of the Capital were not a little [illegible] on [illegible] at the discovery of the [illegible] of [illegible] masculine modiste to adorn the [illegible] surmounting the Court House dome [illegible] intended to represent the Goddess of Liberty. On her classical brow was [illegible] a map of antique pattern; [illegible] her [illegible] a dilapidated blanket, [illegible] by hoop skirts, and in her arms had [illegible] a poorly improvised [illegible] to represent an infant. The [illegible], however, was a dismal failure, the [illegible] to warrant a regis[illegible] of the [illegible] age at sixteen years. [illegible] left [illegible] these crowds [illegible] the Court House, and [illegible] in the endeavor to [illegible] costume with [illegible] had been so suddenly appe[illegible]. The crowd was about evenly divided in [illegible] as to whether the habiliments were an [illegible] or not to the figure [illegible] which has been the subject of so very facetious remarks by the press of the State. Much merriment was occasioned by the occurrence, and [illegible] for an hour or two, hugely enjoyed a [illegible].

[illegible] EPISODE.—An episode of an exciting [illegible] transpired at Oregon City last Saturday [illegible] the time the flag-staff was being raised by the firemen for the use of the Department. While the pole was at an angle of about [illegible] to the horizon, and moving slowly by means of tackling towards the vertical line, suddenly the fire bell tapped an alarm. Confusion and most exciting scene followed. For some moments it seemed apparent that the firemen in their [illegible] and agitation would abandon the work and allow the half erected staff to lower itself more suddenly than might be conducive to good heads and sound limbs. But just at that critical moment some one shouted for the men to hold to the guys and tackle. This order was obeyed, and the swaying pole continued to rise. [illegible] firemen went to extinguish the flames, [illegible] remained until the staff was hoisted [illegible] the excitement the alarm proved nothing [illegible] serious than the burning out of a chimney

[illegible] Mr. D. Lower, who was taken ill with smallpox over a week ago, at his place of [illegible] Front street, died on Saturday evening [illegible] 5 o'clock, from that loathsome disease. [illegible] night the remains were privately buried. Deceased was aged about 53 years, [illegible] and, so far as known, had no [illegible] the State. Mr. Lower has been a [illegible] Portland for the last seven years, engaged [illegible] of different kinds. He was a [illegible] Pennsylvania. For the last three years, up to [illegible] his death, Mr. Lower was engaged [illegible] wholesale fruit business. In all the [illegible] the deceased was ever regarded as a honest man; conscientious, benevolent, [illegible] in his dealings with his fellow [illegible] By his death the community loses one of [illegible] and industrious citizens. The [illegible] it is thought, by handling [illegible] fruits and vegetables brought [illegible] of the steamers.

[illegible].—The English barque Hermine, Capt. A. H. Hiscocks, arrived on Saturday [illegible] in tow of the tug Merrimac from Astoria [illegible] from Liverpool with a large assorted [illegible]. She sailed from Holyhead on the [illegible] of January. From that point to Cape [illegible] fairly fair weather was experienced. [illegible] was passed on the 5th of April. Some [illegible] gales were encountered off the Cape, [illegible] resulted to the vessel or rigging. [illegible] was met from the Cape to the mouth of the Columbia, off which the Hermine arrived [illegible] of January. She sailed over without [illegible] arrived at port on the 28th. About one [illegible] of general cargo was brought by [illegible]. She is consigned to Janion & Rhodes, [illegible] a load of wheat. To day the [illegible] will [illegible] to discharge cargo at [illegible] wharf.

[illegible].—The steamer Ajax, which sailed from San Francisco for Portland last Saturday, [illegible] the following passengers R H Milroy, [illegible] and child; Gen Jas Tilton, W M Ladd, W [illegible] and wife, Miss H Ferguson, Mrs H Kinkle [illegible] daughter, B C Lewis and wife, J Rogers, E [illegible] and son, E Jungerman and wife, H Kin[illegible], A M Adams, H Bloomfield, Wm H Brantner, [illegible] and family, Miss L A Warren, Mrs K [illegible], V Hogeman, J T Bonnestel, J Kinney, J [illegible] and wife, Mrs Renshaw and child, B F [illegible], Wm Morgan Jr, Mrs H Williams and two [illegible], C H Upham, W McMicken, A B Cowles, [illegible] Edwards and wife, J C Appewhite, C H [illegible], U S N, Jas S Watson, Capt Fluval, J T [illegible], L C Smith, A A Cohn, J L Tharp, R Cole, [illegible], J Smith and family, W S Sprague, H H [illegible], O F Elliott, R Low, Mrs P C New, ll and three children.

PLANKS RE LAID.—About two weeks ago, a few days before the water of the Wallamet had reached its height, the planks on the bridge in East Portland, along Water street, between L and J, were torn up at the intervals of every few yards. This precaution was wisely observed to prevent the timbers of the bridge from floating away. Since then the water has receded until the danger apprehended has passed. The planks have been re-laid and travel along that thoroughfare resumed.

SACRED CONCERT.—The first Sacred Concert of the series will be given at Trinity Church on Wednesday evening, commencing at 8 30 P. M. The following is the programme: Part First—Organ selection, "Cujus Animam," Rossini, Mr. L W Wallace. Chorus, "Glory be to God on High," (Mozart. Organ Offertoire No. 2, (Battiste), Mr R T Yarndley: Te Deum Laudamus, double quartette (Lloyd); Organ selection, Mr. G L DeFrans. Part Second—Solo and Chorus, "When Thou Comest," (Stabat Mater, Rossini), Organ, "Fixed in His Everlasting Seat," (Handel) Mr. R. T. Yarndley; "Hear Us Oh Father," double quartette, (A. Baumbach). Organ selection, Mr. G. L. DeFrans Contralto Solo, "Jesus, Savior of My Soul," (Woods) Miss E Cardinell, Old Hundred, by all present.

CHANGING QUARTERS.—The late enforcement of the "Cubic Air Ordinance" among the Chinese of this city, has caused a scattering out of the denizens of the Flowery Land. Since the 53 Chinamen were hauled up and fined in the Police Court, large numbers of these Celestials have changed locations. On Saturday over two hundred Chinamen packed up their luggage and departed for the suburbs. At present, their tents and temporary huts can be seen scattered along the classic banks of King's creek. A large number, it is stated, are encamped in the vicinity of Balch's creek below the city. These fellows are impelled through fear of the police, as they have learned why so many of their number were captured last week. This departure for the outskirts cannot but result beneficially to the city.

PAST RECOVERY.—The Indian, at present confined in the county jail at Oregon City for the stabbing of another Siwash on the Clackamas some weeks ago during a drunken carousal, has been pronounced by physicians to be incurable. An application, we learn, will soon be made to Judge Upton for his release. The other "Lo" who was stabbed, is also pronounced hopelessly ill. Prospects, it would seem, are brilliant for Oregon City to be soon rid of these worthless loafers, who are fitted for little else than to punish bad whisky and indulge in drunken brawls. The exit of these Siwashes for the shadowy realms of the enchanted "hunting grounds," will be the occasion of no great popular outburst of public sorrow on the part of the peace loving inhabitants of Oregon City.

INVITATION DECLINED.—At a meeting held on last Friday evening, by the members of the Hibernian Society, the invitation extended by the Committee of Arrangements to participate in the exercises of the Fourth, was read. It was determined, after a formal acceptation, to decline. This action, we are informed, was taken, not for want of patriotism or any desire to observe the day in a becoming manner, but from the fact that quite a number of the members belong to military companies and other organizations that are intending to join in the parade. Should the Hibernian Society accept the invitation to participate in the ceremonies, not more than half the members would be able to parade.

GRAND TIME.—Last Saturday was a gala day among the firemen of Oregon City. Several important events occurred on that day to render the "boys" jubilant. One was the arrival of the new uniform and the other was the raising of a lofty flag pole for the benefit of the Department. The members of the several Companies were out in full force and a grand parade was held. Speeches were made by ex-Mayors Noltner and Charman and Hons. Myers, Cochran, Schram and Col. W. L. White, Chief Engineer. The Oregon City Brass Band was out and discoursed some enlivening strains, which added in no small measure to the general good feeling.

THE FIRST BOAT.—A schooner-rigged barge called the Julia, which has been plying on the Columbia and Wallamet, between Portland and Rooster Rock, enjoys the honor of being the first craft which has yet ascended the Cascades to the Dalles. With the aid of sails and tow lines the craft was taken over the Cascades without danger or damage. The barge arrived at the Dalles on Saturday evening, with a load of lumber.

FULL FREIGHT.—In consequence of the large quantities of freight taken on board by the steamer Shoshone as that boat came down the river on Saturday, and the time consumed at the landings, the steamer did not reach the locks until nearly dark. On this account the Shoshone did not arrive at her wharf until late in the evening. She brought a number of passengers and came down loaded almost to the guards with freight.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Large quantities of earth are being dumped at the intersection of B and Washington streets. Masons are busily engaged in building a culvert to carry off the waters of King's creek, and when these improvements are completed the travel westward will be much greater than usual. B street is closed for the present and teamsters will, for the time being, take the Washington street route.

LIQUOR SELLING.—U. S. Deputy Marshal Williams arrived on the evening train yesterday, having in custody three prisoners—Charles Blair, Wm. Forsyth, and Edward Penny. These prisoners were brought from Linkville, in Southern Oregon, charged with selling liquor to Indians. They will be tried at the regular July term of the U. S. District Court.

A GOOD VESSEL.—The bark Hermine which arrived here on Saturday is one of the most staunch as well as handsome vessels which has yet arrived at this port. She is built of iron with superior facilities for carrying freight. The Hermine was built in 1865, at Liverpool, and has a registered capacity of about 1,300 tons.

PREVENTED BY ILLNESS.—In consequence of the counter attractions, Mrs. A. J. Duniway did not lecture Saturday evening at Oro Fino Theater. She was to lecture yesterday at 11 A. M. and 3 P. M., but owing to sickness was unable to meet her appointments, much to the disappointment and regret of her audience.

EXCURSION.—The little steamer Oneatta gave an excursion yesterday to Vancouver, leaving here in the forenoon, and returning in the evening. A number embarked and accompanied the excursion. The monotony of the trip was relieved by music discoursed by the East Portland Band, engaged for the occasion.

SEMI ANNUAL ELECTION.—On next Thursday evening the Father Mathew T. A. B. Society will hold their semi-annual election. This temperance organization is reported to be in a very prosperous condition. Additions to the membership of the Society are being made at every meeting.

OFFICERS ELECTED.—At the semi annual election of Hassalo Lodge No. 15, I. O. O. F., held on Friday evening, the following officers were elected: James A. Smith, N. G; Simon Harris, V. G; J. M. Williamson, R S; Ward S. Stevens, P. S; W. S. James, Treas.

ONEONTA TRIBE.—There will be a council held at the Wigwam, by Oneonta Tribe, No. 4, Improved Order of Red Men, on Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

AMUSEMENTS.

Ankeny's Hall, Central Market, will be opened to the public for the first time on the occasion of the Independence Ball to be given by the City Rifles and the East Portland Band on the evening of the Fourth. The affair is in excellent hands and promises to be largely attended. It is the wish of the managers that the military guests appear in uniform. The Hall is the largest in the city and is easy of access from First street. Let all attend.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, J.

SATURDAY, June 28, 1873.

Annie Smith vs Arthur Fabre, motion to strike out portion of amended complaint allowed.

M. Koshland vs William Hartley; demurrer overruled by consent, and defendant allowed until Monday to answer.

O. T. H. Association vs C. A. Wheeler, cause on trial.

If you want the woven wire bed, parlor and bedroom suits, the best spring and pure hair mattresses, go to Hurgren & Shindler.

"I say, Tom, that is a nobby suit you have on. I declare I've been trying to get something that will fit me to a dot, and that I can depend on to wear well. Where did you buy them?" "I was passing along First street, last week, and as I turned the corner of Washington street I noticed some fine clothes and furnishing goods. The attraction was so great that I stepped inside, and after selecting the materials, I ordered what may be termed an elegant fitting suit. The place is Fishel & Roberts."

If you want pure, fine liquors of any kind, go to E. D. Tyne's, northwest corner of Oak and First streets, agent for the sale of Jessie Moore & Co's fine Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies of Louisville, Ky.

BASE BALL.

The Clackamas club play the Pioneers in this city, next Thursday—3d prox.

17th—At Boston—Philadelphia, 6; Boston, 11; 18th—at New York—Atlantic, 12, Athletic 4.

The College Club has sent a written request to At. Raleigh, desiring him to umpire the next game between the Pioneers and their club.

We are informed by leading members of the Pacific club that there is no foundation for the report that they have disbanded. They play the Pioneers on the 12th, probably.

On the 19th inst the championship stood in the following order: Philadelphia, Athletic, Boston, Baltimore, Atlantic, Mutual, with fair prospects of the former club winning the champion flag.

The good people of Oregon City propose to spend the coming Fourth of July in witnessing a game of base ball between two nines, composed of old citizens of the place, all of whom are over 40 years.

The Pioneers arrived in good season on last Friday evening at the Capitol and were escorted to the Chemeketa House by the representatives of the College club, at which favorite resort they were entertained in the evening with a social hop—a fine affair, the boys say. Shortly after nine o'clock the following morning, they proceeded to the field east of the Capitol grounds. Mr. Al Raleigh was elected as umpire. Having won the toss, the Pioneers went to the field and their opponents, the College Club, to the bat. The game was closely contested up to the sixth inning, from which time the College boys took a decided lead, keeping well ahead. At the close of the ninth inning the score stood as follows: College, 60, Pioneers, 46. From the large number of runs made it is evident neither club played well. It was a sad mistake the Pioneers made when they started away minus the valuable services of Buchtel, their efficient pitcher, and Whiting, the excellent second baseman and strong batter. Sure defeat was predicted when the fact became known that they would be unable to leave with the other members. As substitutes, Sutherland acted for Buchtel and Thielsen for Whiting, who performed their duties as well as their limited acquaintance with the other players would admit. Wiley was disabled in the first inning by falling on the railroad track, which was close to the first base. He was running for a ball at the time, and in crossing the track tripped and sprained his ankle. Considering these drawbacks, the Pioneers did very well. The College boys did not play as well as some anticipated, and they can hardly brag over their victory. Garrison made a home run, and George Richards (a Portland boy, by the way,) congratulates himself on coming out with a clean score. The umpire gave entire satisfaction. Appended is each player's record at the bat:

Umpire—A. S. Raleigh, Pacific Club.

Scorers—E. C Terry, College Club, H. W. Cushing, Pioneers.

Time of Game—Three hours.

Fly Catches—Thompson, 2; Bird, 2, Lowndale, 2; Gearin, 3; Raleigh, 2; Taylor, 2; Smith, 2; Garrison, 1; Forsythe, 2, Coleman, 1.

A splendid dinner was in readiness, which was declined as but a brief time was afforded to enable the boys to catch the down train. A large crowd attended the game. Salem, as everybody knows, has the prettiest girls in the State, and a full representation was there. The next game will be played in this city during the coming month.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Collection day.

Pay your postage.

Next Friday we celebrate.

Fabre, famous for fine coffee.

The river has fallen several feet.

U. S. Circuit Court this morning.

New postal regulations after to-day.

Quinn has good things, you must know.

There will be much music on the Fourth.

Strawberry festivals are things of the past.

Yesterday was a good day for promenading.

M. Gray has issued three new pieces of music.

The Calliope lands at the foot of Alder street.

There is no case of smallpox in the city at present.

Many business changes are being made throughout the city.

Twelfth street is being opened from Washington to B.

A number of pleasure seekers were passengers on the Dixie Thompson this morning.

The steamer John L. Stephens arrived at Astoria on Saturday morning and proceeded to sea a short time after.

Mr. Pattee will bring out his "Twin Sisters" on the Fourth of July. The boat is a novelty in these parts.

The masonry work on the woolen mills at Oregon City has been completed. The machinery is being rapidly put up.

Hark for the fizzing and sharp detonations of fire crackers soon. Young America promises shortly to break loose.

No vessels were spoken by the bark Hermine from the time she sailed until the mouth of the Columbia was reached.

Societies and others wishing to participate in the Fourth of July procession will notify the Grand Marshal, Al Zieber, at once.

The Western Union Telegraph Company will shortly commence the erection of a new double arm line between Portland and Oregon City—the work to begin at the south end.

The passage made by the bark Hermine from Liverpool to Portland was remarkably free from accidents. No damage resulted to the vessel, and no sickness or deaths occurred among the crew.

Mr. Joseph Lustig, formerly salesman for Jos. Kohn & Co., has gone into the box manufacturing business in San Francisco. He wants good Oregon wood. Here is a chance for some one who has the article.

PERSONAL.

Mr Hall, the traveling correspondent of the N. Y. Times, is now in the city.

Hon. Elwood Evans of Washington Territory is among the passengers on the steamer. He is on his return from Philadelphia, where he went to attend the annual meeting of the Centennial Committee, that assembled in May.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A fine opportunity is offered to purchase home stead lots on monthly installments of five dollars each. See M Moskowitz, real estate, agent for particulars.

Danger.

At this season the atmosphere is surcharged with the seeds of intermittents, remittents, rheumatism, pulmonary disorders, bilious complaints and the like. Persons whose nervous systems are relaxed are the first to succumb to these distempers. Brace up the physical energies, then, with this potential vegetable tonic. It is the most powerful recuperant which the botanic kingdom has ever yielded to patient research and experiment. Try it. The blindest disciple of the old medical dogmas will at least admit that a tonic and alterative, compounded of approved herbs, roots and barks, can do no harm, while the testimony of thousands invites a trial of its virtues. Vigor is the thing most needed in these cases as well as in dyspepsia and nervous affections, and Hostetter's Bitters is the safest, surest and most wholesome strengthening preparation that human skill has yet concocted.

Toothache proceeds from ague in the face, operating upon the exposed nerve of a decayed tooth. Fill the gum thoroughly with the finger, wet with Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, heat the face well, and lay a flannel wet with the liniment on the face, also put a little liniment into the cavity of the tooth, on cotton.

The system frequently gets out of order, and should be at once regulated, else other troubles will ensue. When physic is needed, take Parson's Purgative Pills. They are a safe, wholesome and natural medicine.

BUCHU.—The curative properties of this shrub in cases of dropsy, gravel, kidney diseases, and obscure disorders, are now well known to physicians. Dr. Helmbold originally popularized this medicine, and no other chemist has been able to extract its virtues with equal skill. Helmbold's Buchu is still the standard and genuine Extract. Patients and physicians prefer it. The genuine bears H. T. Helmbold's signature. All apothecaries sell it.

Sudden changes in the weather are productive of throat diseases, coughs and colds. There is no more effectual relief to be found than in the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches."

A NIGHT ON THE BITTER LAKE.

"And they say it don't rain in Egypt," growls our skipper, wiping the last drops of the departing squall from his bushy beard and bluff English face. "Let 'em just come here and try, that's all!"

"This is our sixth squall since we got into the canal," remarked I; "pretty well for one morning's work. No getting to Suez to-night, eh?"

"We'd ha' done it right enough if they'd let us go full speed, but half speed's the rule here. We'll be getting into the Bitter lake 'bout sundown, and then I'll anchor for the night and go on to Suez to morrow."

We are by this time about midway through the famous canal, and have had time to get somewhat used to a panorama which is utterly new to us both. Our first feeling (as is the case, I should judge, with every one who has seen it) is one disappointment; for, great achievement as it undoubtedly is, it is so utterly dwarfed and overshadowed (like the Don and Volga railway, or the "Nicholas Column" at Ibraila) by the limitless desolation which surrounds it, that the statistics of its expense and labor appear actually fabulous. Nor has it even the element of beauty to recommend it. Two interminable ridges of yellow sand growing gradually higher as we advance southward; a huge dredger, every now and then, lying like a castle upon the water, with its clamorous freight of blue-shirted workmen and red-capped boys, who rush to stare at us as we pass; a few little stations, consisting chiefly of one hut apiece, with a resident population of two men and a dog; an occasional passenger-steamer from Ismailia, so diminutive that you almost expect to see "Complete at 10s. 6d." labelled upon its bulwarks—such are the leading characteristics of the famous international thoroughfare. But as we gradually realize the utter barrenness of the whole country, void alike of food and of shelter, the treacherous nature of the soil, the merciless heat, which presses sorely upon us even in April, we begin to admire, in our own despite, this little ribbon of light green water drawn athwart the dull, brassy yellow of the everlasting desert, and to appreciate the magnitude of the task which, begun by an Egyptian king nearly thirty centuries ago, has received its completion in our own day from the hand of a French engineer.

"Here comes another of them 'Puffin' Billies,'" remarks the skipper, with grand contempt, as a little toy-steamer skims past us with accommodation for one passenger, provided he were a thin one. "They're al'ays a-tryin' to haggravate us by passin' us that way; but if we could only put on steam we'd show them fun. Only this mornin', when you was below writtin', one on 'em cum by, and the skipper hollers out to me, 'Shall I throw out a rope and tow you?' and I says to him, says I, 'No, thankee, it's only blind men as is towed by dogs.'"

And with an approving chuckle at his own sledge-hammer wit, the worthy skipper walks aft.

The black rain-cloud has vanished as suddenly as it came, and the sun looks down upon us once more in all his merciless splendor from the bright, cruel, cloudless sky. There is a hot, dreamy languor in the air, and a silence as of utter exhaustion. The long, hazy ripple in our wake dies without a sound upon the thick, lifeless sand; the very shadow of our steamer seems to drag after us like a spent runner. Two black skeletons suddenly appear on the right bank, moving slowly along the waters edge with their long, noiseless stride, and the sight of a living being in this great sepulchre of nature startles us like an apparition. Then comes a momentary glimpse of the world of life and action, as we swing round a projecting corner into the great basin, along which rise the towers and minarets of Ismailia, "the city of Ismailia Pasha."

The pilot-boat flits alongside like a fire-fly, whisks away our Port Said pilot, and replaces him with a lithe, swarthy, keen-eyed half-caste, and then the desert engulfs us once more as we head southward, on toward the Bitter lake.

Mid-day changes to afternoon, afternoon wanes into evening, and at length there rises before us a boundless waste of smooth water, all aflame with the splendor of the sunset; the far-famed Bitter lake, which is, perhaps, the one spot of the canal that, in an age of railways and telegraphs, wears the living impress of a time when the Pharaohs still reigned in Memphis, and when the white-robed priests of Isis watched the stars from the summit of the Great Pyramid. Smooth, tideless, lifeless, it stretches from sky to sky, in all its weird and desolate beauty; and, far to the west, wave after wave of purple hills surge up against the burning sky; while to the east, as far as the eye can reach, extends—dim, and vast, and unknown—the mighty desert, beyond which lies Mecca and Jerusalem.

As we swept into the lake the sun "goes out" (no other word will express it), and, in a moment, earth and sea and sky are one great shadow. In the gathering darkness and overwhelming silence the captain's hoarse call sounds indescribably strange and unearthly.

"Stand by your anchor."

"Ay, ay, sir!"

"Let go!"

The rattle of the chain, the splash of the falling anchor, break upon the stillness for a moment with unnatural loudness, and then the silence returns like a wave. The isolation is now complete. I have seen the frozen Neva at midnight, and the Dead sea in the gray of the early morning; but a ghostlier sight than the Bitter lake, in the dim interval between sunset and moonrise, I have never yet seen. However, the ghostly dimness does not endure long. Sudden as a flash of lightning there falls across the shadowy waste of water a broad silver sheen, and up rises the full moon in all its splendor (such a moon one sees only in tropical skies), glorifying the whole panorama at one stroke. Behind us, tall and white and spectral, rises the lighthouse that guards the entrance with its solitary eye of fire. To right and left, as far as the eye can reach, the huge cross-barred signal-posts that mark the channel boom out like a line of phantom sentries. In the background the curving hills stand out black as night against the unearthly splendor; while the faint ripples made by the night breeze break upon our bows in rings of living fire, flashing, quivering, and bursting incessantly. And now the sense of utter loneliness and separation becomes overwhelming. Land-locked as we are, it is as though we were becalmed in mid-ocean, far away from sight or sound of human life, a feeling intense enough to overpower even a sense of companionship. With five and thirty men close beside me, I am as utterly alone as if I were upon a desert island.

And so the night wears on, the weird impressiveness of the wonderful panorama becoming more intense with every hour that passes, till at length, when I fall asleep under the lee of the quarter-boat, with my head pillowed on a spare sail, and a fold of the canvas pulled over my face as a shield against the moon, my dreams are haunted by a confused phantasmagoria of figures from the remote ages, black-browed Sesostris driving his team of chained monarchs along the shouting banks of the Nile, and towering Ninus bounding on his endless files of Assyrian spearmen to sack the temple of Memphis; and Moses, with the light of a solemn triumph in his deep, earnest eyes, leading forth a free nation over the corpses of the Egyptian first born, and Persian Cambyses, "master of all who live," marshaling his best and bravest to a death of lingering agony in the depths of the Great Desert. From these historical night mares I am aroused by a hearty slap on the shoulder, and a jolly English laugh close to my ear.

"Lucky you ain't the officer o' the watch, sir, you sleeps as sound as a peeler on dooty! Come, tumble up, and take your six buckets; the steward's pretty nigh had breakfast already."

And it is, sure enough, with the traditional beefsteak smoking in the middle. The sunrise is just lighting up the purple hill tops; the steam is on for our final run to Suez; the nineteenth century asserts itself once more, and the visionary romance is gone.—St. James' Magazine.

PROSPERITY OF A STATE.—There is much force in the remark of Governor Straw, of New Hampshire, in his inaugural address, that the condition of the savings bank in any community is a fair index of its prosperity. Measured by this standard the people of the Old Granite State are perhaps as thrifty as any equal number of people in the world. The aggregate deposits of the savings banks are $28,000,000, an increase of fourteen per cent over the preceding year. The number of depositors is 100,000, which is one-third of the entire population of the State. This latter statement is remarkable to the extremest limits of credibility.

Don't go about with shabby clothes while an opportunity is afforded you to obtain wearing apparel at only a nominal sum. You miss a splendid chance to get a suit of clothing cheap when you fail to call on J. Kohn & Co., 91 Front street, where the counters are crowded with the very latest styles. Twenty dollars will buy a fine outfit there.

BE WISE TO-DAY.—'Tis madness to neglect a cough or cold, however slight. Consumption may follow, and though Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has frequently cured this much dreaded disease, it almost invariably cures the primary disease of the throat, lungs and chest, where other remedies fail.

TEETH IN RUINS are a sure drawback on personal appearance and personal comfort. Therefore, keep them in good repair with that established antidote for all the diseases that assail them, fragrant Sozodont.

LYON'S KATHAIRON
Only 50 Cents per Bottle.
It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.
OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Professor E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek "Kathro," signifying to cleanse, purify, rejuvenate, or restore. The favor it has received and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME in QUANTITY and QUALITY as it was over a QUARTER of a CENTURY AGO, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only 50 Cents per Bottle.

Woman's Glory is Her Hair.

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS
Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medicinal utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.
It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHEA etc.
This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various method of preparing the remedy, and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundred of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.
COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge, and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies for these diseases are entirely avoided.
FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1 lb bottles.
Beware of imitations, and take none but COLEMAN'S. For sale everywhere, and by HODGE, CALEF & CO. Wholesale Druggists, Portland, Sole Agents for Oregon.

The Lepers of Molokai.

The Hawaiian semi-savages are indebted to the white foreigners for two prominent features of their civilization, namely, the Gospel and leprosy! To a certain extent they have acquired a taste for the former, but they take to the latter like ducks to water. Fancy a village in which there are but two or three clean people—where every one else is plague-stricken, and condemned for life to the narrow limits of a little peninsula, bordered on three sides by the ocean, and walled at the back with a perpendicular bluff three thousand feet in height.

About dusk, a procession of villagers approached the premises. They brought tin-cups, cocoanut shells, hollow joints of bamboo, and various receptacles; ranged themselves along the fence, and regarded us with considerable interest. Most of them kept hold of the pickets and I saw that their hands were frightfully mutilated, some had but three fingers, some two, some scarcely a finger left—certainly not a whole one, but only a joint or two, according to their luck. Nearly all the hands were raw and bloody.

Lepers in the primary stages of the disease were at work in strips of garden, or perhaps beating poi, the most arduous labor they knew! Lepers a degree worse off were chatting or smoking in the shadow of the few trees that grew about. Lepers whose sands of life had dwindled to a few grains lay on mats in some of the houses, a pitiful and disgusting spectacle. As we walked in single file, the Doctor leading us in the cause of science, I followed as professional mourner, supported by Mr. Welsh, keeper of lepers and guests, the natives fell apart in two bodies, between which we passed in silence. It was the strangest pilgrimage I ever made. If the graves were to give up their dead, and the earth be peopled with the re-animated manes of those who have gone before us, the sight could scarcely be more unnatural than is daily seen in that forlorn spot.

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE DISEASE.

I could not help thinking of the words of Maundrel, that old English traveler of the seventeenth century, who, writing of the leprosy he saw in Syria, says. "It is a distemper so noisome that it might well pass for utmost corruption of the human body on this side of the grave." And why not? Here is the diagnosis of the leprosy, or elephantiasis, of the Greeks: "When it is fully developed it is characterized by the presence of dusky red or livid tubercles of different sizes upon the face, lips, nose, eyebrows, ears and extremities of the body. The skin of the tuberculated face is at the same time thickened, wrinkled and shining, and the features are very greatly distorted. The hair of the eyebrows, eyelashes and beard falls off; the eyes are often injected and the conjunctiva swelled; the pupil of the eye contracts, giving the organ a weird and cat-like expression. The voice becomes hoarse and nasal; the sense of smell is impaired or lost, and that of touch, or common sensation, is strangely altered, for while the tuberculated and other affected parts are, in the first instance, sometimes supersensitive, latterly in the course of the disease they become paralyzed or anaesthetic. As the malady progresses, the tubercles soften and open; ulcerations of similar mucous appear in the nose and throat, rendering the breath extremely offensive; tubercular masses, or leprous tubercles, as shown by dissection, begin to form also internally upon various mucous membranes, and on the surface of the kidneys, lungs, etc. Cracks, fissures and circular ulcers appear on the fingers, toes and extremities, and joint after joint drops off by a kind of spontaneous gangrene. Sometimes the upper and sometimes the lower extremities are specially afflicted by this mortification and mutilation of parts."

A DEVOTED LOVER.

Those living—why not say dying—about the village, were very comfortable, and generally happy, or as happy as people can be who [illegible] of the important faculties [illegible] to the enjoyment of life. The less crippled nursed those who were helpless. In some houses we found natives who betrayed no symptoms of the plague; these were friends of the lepers, who had voluntarily exiled themselves for the sake of those they loved.

Here was a young native, who was perhaps twenty years of age, splendidly developed, and with very attractive manners. If he had chosen, he might have passed a life of unrestrained sensuality, for it is next to impossible for such fellows to be decent; but he had seen a woman with a face like a cobra, a hideous, lithe creature, possessing the charms of Medusa; there was something fascinating in the very flutter of her garments, as though she was not wholly human; a woman who, in her best days, had belonged to the late king's household, and who yet preserved an air of royalty, but who had been banished to Molokai with the shadow of the plague upon her.

Sooner or later, the youth expected to sacrifice his body to the plague. At any rate, never again could he hope to quit that village where, indeed, he was quite contented, and in nowise regretful of the temptations of his island world. He seemed to be under some singular spell; for he was familiar with the horrors of the place, associated with lepers of high and low degree, and at the same time preserved a light heart and cheerful spirit that bordered on frivolity. He followed us into the various wards devoted to lepers, who were in the last stages of decomposition. As we entered the room, there was a low murmur of welcome from the sufferers, who were, for the most part, unable to turn themselves on the mats spread in a row along both sides of the apartments. A fetid odor, faint but perceptible, tainted the air. We heard hoarse, hard breathing, harsh whispers, and deep sighs, from those who might never again speak with their old voices. There were faces turned toward us, with the eyes slowly withering away—some of them too abominable to be thought of for a moment. The wasted fingers held up to us, [illegible] the skin, and seeming to belong to anything but human hands. One old man, sitting in a malo (a narrow strip of cloth about the loins), was covered from head to foot with large hard swellings. There was not valley enough between his thousand and one fleshy hillocks to lay the tip of your finger, yet he was unconscious of any pain. He called our attention to a new swelling of uncommon magnitude, and appeared a little proud of it, as though he had surprised himself in this last effort. He had been a leper for ten years, and was still strong enough to walk about without assistance; in fact, he seemed comparatively well, and good for some years to come. It is almost like injury added to misfortune, that leprosy is not more swift in its destruction.

THE CONTAGION OF LEPROSY.

It has been affirmed, by certain members of the medical faculty of San Francisco, that leprosy is hereditary, and not to any degree contagious. In the face of the faculty, it may be stated that the first case of leprosy, or one of the first cases on record in the Hawaiian Islands, is that of a German who arrived from China about forty years ago, married a native woman, and the two became eventually leprous. From this unholy union the disease has [illegible] to every corner of the kingdom.

Here are the [illegible] evidences of contagion existing all over the islands. A leper on Kauai, the [illegible] of the group, married a woman who was not leprous. He died, and the widow married a second husband, who was not leprous, but who developed the disease shortly after his marriage. Having buried the second husband, she married a third, who followed in the footsteps of his predecessors and died a leper. It was at this stage of her matrimonial career that the woman herself succumbed to the disease, though she must have contracted it in the first marriage, and been accountable for the deaths of husbands number two and three. The family is happily extinct.

Mr. Stoddard then goes on to quote a long array of authorities, from Moses down to Agassiz, to show that leprosy is contagious. He says:

I remember no case of scaling leprosy in the Hawaiian Islands; nor of elephantiasis or thickening of the flesh, either of the arm or the leg, or of both, which is so common in Tahiti, where the ulcerous leprosy is comparatively unknown. Neither has the [illegible] spread much among the Chinese; [illegible] not more than a dozen or twenty coolies [illegible] settlement during my visit, in a community of three hundred. There were three white foreigners, who had consented to join the natives on Molokai, rather than be shunned by every one, and forced to live a life of perpetual solitude. If it were a local malady, a foreigner might regret the hour he wandered within its fatal boundaries, but it is not.

There is but one conclusion to come to, and it is this. That the unbridled licentiousness of the people has begotten the seed of the plague that is scattered broadcast over the land, and through promiscuous intercourse it is nourished and increased!

He concludes with a vivid description of the leper valley.

It was nearly time for us to leave. As we were about bidding farewell to our kind friends, Mr. and Mrs. Walsh, we heard a familiar hymn, and saw a group of young lepers, clustered about a solitary hymn-book like flies over a honey-pot. They read music, many of them, and are passionately fond of it. This accomplishment is not neglected, even in Molokai. There is a church and a schoolhouse at the settlement. A big leper teaches a little leper how to be leprous, a leprous policeman arrests leperous offenders who are overstepping the modesty of leprosy, which they sometimes do. Their passions increase and there is no Jordan at hand. They marry and give in marriage; albeit there is no cedar-wood, no scarlet, nor hyssop, nor clean birds, nor ewes of the first year, nor measures of fine flour, nor offerings of any sort! There is nothing but leprosy, whitewash, a high wind, a traveling doctor and a scribe.—Chas. Warren Stoddard in July Overland.

FOURTH OF JULY!

All Associations Societies, or other organized bodies, desirous of participating on this occasion, will please notify the Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements on or before the first of July in order that suitable arrangements may be made for their reception and entertainment.

A Full Programme

Of the exercises of the day will shortly be published By order of the

COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS.

S.T-1860-X.

S-T-1860-X Plantation BITTERS.

IS PURELY A VEGETABLE PREPARATION, composed simply of well-known ROOTS, HERBS, and FRUITS, combined with other properties, which in their nature are Cathartic, Aperient, Nutritious, Diuretic, Alterative and Anti-Bilious. The whole is preserved in a sufficient quantity of spirit from the SUGAR CANE to keep them in any climate, which makes the

PLANTATION BITTERS

one of the most desirable Tonics and Cathartics in the world. They are intended strictly as a

only to be used as a medicine, and always according to directions.

They are the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. They act upon a diseased liver, and stimulate to such a degree, that a healthy action is at once brought about. As a remedy to which Women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. As a Spring and Summer Tonic, they have no equal. They are a mild and gentle Purgative as well as Tonic. They Purify the Blood. They are a splendid Appetizer. They make the weak strong. They purify and invigorate. They cure Dyspepsia, Constipation, and Headache. They act as a specific in all species of disorders which undermine the bodily strength and break down the animal spirits.

Depot, 53 Park Place, New York.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

COUGHS HOARSENESS, INFLUENZA,

Sore Throat, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Asthma, Bleeding of the Lungs, and every affection of the Throat, Lungs and Chest, are speedily and permanently cured by the use of

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

This well known preparation does not dry up a cough and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most medicines, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

Consumption Can be Cured

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors. None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS, SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, Proprietors, Boston Sold by REDINGTON, HOSTETTER & CO., San Francisco, and by dealers generally

NATIONAL BANK OF PORTLAND, SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

THIS BANK HAS ESTABLISHED IN CONNECTION with the general Banking business a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT, and will allow Interest on Coin Deposits made in accordance with the conditions adopted by the Association.

In establishing a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT this Banking Association has in view the benefits to accrue to a class of persons having small sums to loan, by providing a safe place of deposit, ample security and fair rate of interest, as well as to aggregate and bring into use idle capital.

For the safety of deposits in this Bank are pledged its entire capital and resources, and also the personal liability of its Directors and Stockholders, as provided by Section 12 of the National Currency Act, approved June 3, 1864, a greater security than that given by ordinary Savings Banks. Printed copies of the conditions upon which deposits are received may be had upon application at the Bank.

FLORENCE!

THE BEST SEWING MACHINE IN THE WORLD. It does more work, more kinds of work, better work, and does its work easier than any other machine.

If there is a FLORENCE within a thousand miles of Portland not giving entire satisfaction, if I am informed of it, I will attend to it without expense of any kind to the owner.

We have the new style of FLORENCE machine that feeds the work away from the operator (like the Howe or Singer) to meet the views of those preferring that style of Machine.

I have located permanently at Portland, and shall keep constantly on hand a large assortment of all of the latest styles of the Florence machines. Call and see them before purchasing elsewhere.

I have also the agency for the celebrated NONOTOCK CO. SEWING SILK and TWIST; JOHN CLARK JR. & CO.'S SPOOL COTTON, WILLISTON S C F L MACHINE THREAD; BAILEY'S PARAFFINE SEWING MACHINE OIL.

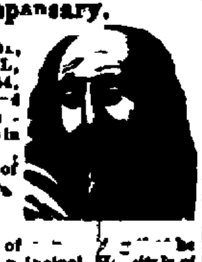
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs [illegible]

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of [illegible] he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither [illegible] nor [illegible] in [illegible] out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or the virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, [illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this hopeful situation thousands suffer until death [illegible] Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to the [illegible] who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying [illegible] they are [illegible] and cured before it be too late [illegible] them [illegible] to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his [illegible] study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all [illegible] in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the [illegible] of eminent physicians from Europe, and other places. Be therefore careful and make a strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of [illegible]

Seminal Weakness.

[illegible] the consequence of [illegible]. This solitary vice, or depraved [illegible] by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, produces, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, [illegible] by a [illegible] medical measures, viz: [illegible] the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and [illegible] of [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the [illegible], blunted intellect, loss of confidence, [illegible] in approaching [illegible] dislike to study and [illegible], loss of [illegible] pimples and various eruptions about the [illegible] tongue, [illegible] consumption, [illegible] and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply [illegible] either in person or by letter, and have a cure [illegible] by his new and [illegible] mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any [illegible] who will prove [illegible] to him [illegible] he was cured of this [illegible] of the San [illegible]

TO MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of [illegible] not [illegible] the sacred [illegible] obtain [illegible]

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to patients a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in a registered letter through the Post-office or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with their bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are travelers and [illegible] too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tin-smiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease that he professes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian
